3a	President's report	Been a fairly busy week but has mostly been spent in catchup and preparation meetings for the year with many different stakeholders. This week is thankfully a lot quieter. Tenancy Update Quick tenancy update - we have passed! You will see that the balcony is now nice and clean after it was pressure washed. Please make sure that if you see people using the balcony for banner painting that they use a tarp and please do not leave any trolleys or junk on the ANUSA Balcony. Sovereignty Day Rally ANUSA was proud to again support the annual Sovereignty Day Rally on the 26th of January. For many years ANUSA has supported the rally with volunteers, marquees, and

	Marshalls. A few of us went to the Aboriginal Tent Embassy on Sunday to help with setup of the marquees and other equipment for the day, and on the day we had about 20 volunteers assisting in various capacities. Huge thank you to Jemma Rule for their help in arranging Marshalls! Crystal who was one of the organisers was very appreciative of the work that ANUSA provided and sent me a lovely text on Monday afternoon expressing their gratitude. In total we provided approx. 15 marquees and 20 volunteers, as well as various bits of other equipment and groceries. ANU Governance Project I met with the ANU governance project for a long catchup and planning session for what their next steps are for their project. I was involved in their project last year and became their 'Student Representative' towards the 3rd quarter of last year. We spoke a lot about where the project will be going to next and how ANUSA can help - particularly how I can help from a council point of view with the project joining the council planning day. I will be again joining a few of their teams - particularly their external stakeholder teams. I have also asked for Aurora to attend their next meeting so she can be kept in the loop and provide her perspectives. ANU Sport I met with Kitty from ANU sport for a quick catchup to introduce ourselves and get an understanding of where we can help each other over the next year. Kitty offered the signage and TV Screens in ANU sport for any ANUSA advertisement, and I suggested that bumping the class pass would be a good idea. Department Catchups I have met with almost every department officer over the last week - just awaiting times for Queer* and BIPOC. These are just sessions for us to get to know each other, hear about our policy priorities for the year, and get an understanding of where ANUSA can support the departments. These catchups were really good to have and gave me a really good idea of what key priorities that departments had, and where we could assist them.
